1875.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., 20th Dec., 1875.

I beg to inform the Collectors that the Brass Coins in this Collection have, almost every one of them, I presume, been in some damp place, as they are considerably rusted.

I would also mention, that what are termed in the Catalogue White or Type Metal Medals, are composed of a hard substance, and seem to have been washed over with something that gives them the appearance of Silver, and some of them are a little deceptive at first. They are preferable in my judgment to the ordinary White Metal Medals.

If the Collectors who favor me with their orders will be kind enough to remit the amount of their bills direct to me, they will save confusion and I shall be much obliged to them.

Faithfully,

EDWARD COGAN.
